PORTFOLIO

- MyCelery App - During my time at the Tech Full Stack bootcamp, I had the opportunity to develop MyCelery, an engaging application designed exclusively for my cohort, "Celery." This private social media platform allowed users to create profiles, connect with fellow cohort members, and engage in meaningful conversations through a feed of messages.
- Github repository - A diverse collection of repositories showcasing my extensive work in web development. With over 20 repositories, I've accumulated a wealth of exercises, challenges, and fully-fledged projects. These repositories serve as a testament to my dedication to honing my coding skills and exploring various facets of software development.
- Web Page - In crafting my portfolio page, I placed a significant emphasis on showcasing my technical proficiency and design expertise. This platform served as a testament to my skills in web development, with a particular focus on creating a seamless and responsive user experience.
